CAIRO, May 8.—With the Iraqi siege of the Habbaniyah air base broken, complete quiet prevailed today both here and at the vital port of Basra.

An official communique reported the capture of 400 additional prisoners and six heavy guns in the "cleanup" which followed the British victory at Habbaniyah.

New Successes In Abyssinia
New successes were reported in Abyssinia, where further positions over the approach north of Am-salagi were captured and prisoners taken.

The British now are in command of a strategically important post at Rutbah Wells on the oil pipe line from Kirkuk, Iraq, to Haifa.

Simultaneously, latest R. A. F. announcements said the British now have full command of the air over Iraq, and British authorities in Palestine reported that area has "never been so quiet."

Editor's Note: A German news agency (DNB) dispatch from Beirut yesterday claimed clashes had occurred in Palestine between Arabs and British troops.

Urges Peaceful Relations
The Egyptian government has urged the restoration of peaceful relations with Britain, and advised received in Cairo said the Turkish and Saudi-Arabian governments have taken similar action.

Another DNB dispatch from Beirut said Iraq Premier Rashid Ali Beg Gailani, replying to the Egyptian note, declared: "There can be no question of compromise with Britain."

Rain of last night was really news. After the long drought this spring, and the light showers of Wednesday, the rainfall last night was a real downpour, and will do an enormous amount of good in the community.

Autoists are already getting a long way from home, despite the fact that the tourist season doesn't begin for some time yet. Pa. News noted a car going through the city on Wednesday afternoon that carried the license tags of the state of Washington.

Apparently Georgia believes in using the state auto licenses as a means of advertising. One car that went through the city today had license plates that read "Peach States" in addition to having the state and license number.

Many Congressional Leaders Forecast U. S. Naval Convoys Shortly

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Many congressional leaders are forecasting today that President Roosevelt will announce within another fortnight that American warships will "convoy" British merchantmen across the Atlantic, to assure safe delivery of war materials to embattled England.

Their philosophy, expressed openly in cloakroom conversations, is that Mr. Roosevelt will "respond to the growing demand for American armed convoys", by agreeing to use U. S. vessels to guard his promised "bridge of ships" to Britain.

"Convoys Mean War"
A few capitol leaders, however, insist the president will refrain from the use of "armed convoys" because of his declarations that "convoys mean war" and his frequent pledges to the American people to keep the United States out of war. Those who express this philosophy are in the minority.

The stage meanwhile is being set for use of American warships to escort British ships clear across the Atlantic. Some administration leaders frankly say they intend to whip (Continued On Page Two)

London Report Says Two Cruisers At Brest Hit By Bombs

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, May 8.—Direct hits with heavy bombs were claimed today on the German cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at the Nazi-held French port of Brest.

An air ministry communique said R. A. F. bombers last night carried out a particularly successful attack on the Brest naval base.

"Visibility was excellent," the communique said, "and the warships were clearly seen to be directly hit with heavy, armor-piercing bombs. The submarine base at St. Nazaire was heavily attacked and large fires were started. At Bremen much damage was done to warehouses and industrial buildings.

"Enemy shipping off the Dutch coast was bombed. Two bombers are missing from these operations. "During the night aircraft of the coastal command attacked oil refineries at Donges, the Loire Estuary docks and shipping at Bergen."

Tampering Cause Of Baden Wreck

I. C. Report Is Given On Railroad Accident In Beaver County March 16

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Interstate Commerce Commission reported today that the Pennsylvania railroad accident near Baden, Pa., March 16, was caused by "malicious tampering with the track."

A Pennsylvania passenger train was derailed at a speed between 60 and 70 miles per hour killing five and injuring 121.

The commission's report on the accident said that "evidence is conclusive that some time before the train was derailed, the rail was loosened and shifted inward from its normal position. The exact time the rail was shifted was not known."

About 30 hours prior to the time of the derailment, the ICC said, A patrol indicated nothing abnormal was observed.

To Complete Purchase Of Greer Plant

Council Taking Action To Acquire Possession Of Buildings And Site

Council convened in the municipal building this morning, where an ordinance was introduced, sent to and reported from committee, favorably authorizing the city to settle all taxes for 1941 on the Shenango tin mill, and the city shall receive in exchange approximately 203 acres and buildings known as the Greer mill property, and three lots in Pollock avenue.

The measure was submitted after both the city and county authorities decided upon this as a medium of trade.

Some time ago it was proposed that the city pay cash, but the tax settlement plan was evolved later.

City Gets Plant
After the bill becomes a city law the city will have acquired the land and buildings, as follows:

Tin house, machine and blacksmith shop, general office building, clock house, old clock house, watchman's building, girls' welfare building, storehouse, carpenter's shop, sawage, structural shop, pipe shop, millwright shop, acetylene and oxygen storehouse, roadway and walk, concrete boiler stack, subway and canopy, hospital, millwright shanty and hot mill No. 1, storehouse for pipe shop, shed and fence around the whole property.

In addition to the settlement of taxes, the city will pay out of city funds $1,645.70 to the C-I company.

The land shall be held by trustee, subject to the joint control of the city and county authorities, and the property may be disposed of by lease or sale as they shall direct, to recover taxes due taxing authorities, for which the property was taken in exchange to preserve the assessed value of the real estate.

Hotel Fire Is Fatal To Four

At Least 11 Others Suffer Injuries As Flames Sweep Hotel In Seattle, Wash.

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, May 8.—Four persons were killed by smoke, and at least 11 injured in a fire which swept a frame hotel in downtown Seattle today.

Scores of other tenants leaped from second and third story windows to safety or were rescued by firemen.

The dead: John Sells, about 70. Mr. and Mrs. William Murdoch, each about 70. Mrs. Violet Morrison, about 65.

The eleven persons hospitalized were suffering from burns or injuries received in leaping from windows.

The fire started in a wastebasket behind the clerk's desk, according to Fire Chief William Fitzgerald, and quickly swept up a spiral wood staircase, the only inside stairway. Fire escapes from the upper floors also were blocked.

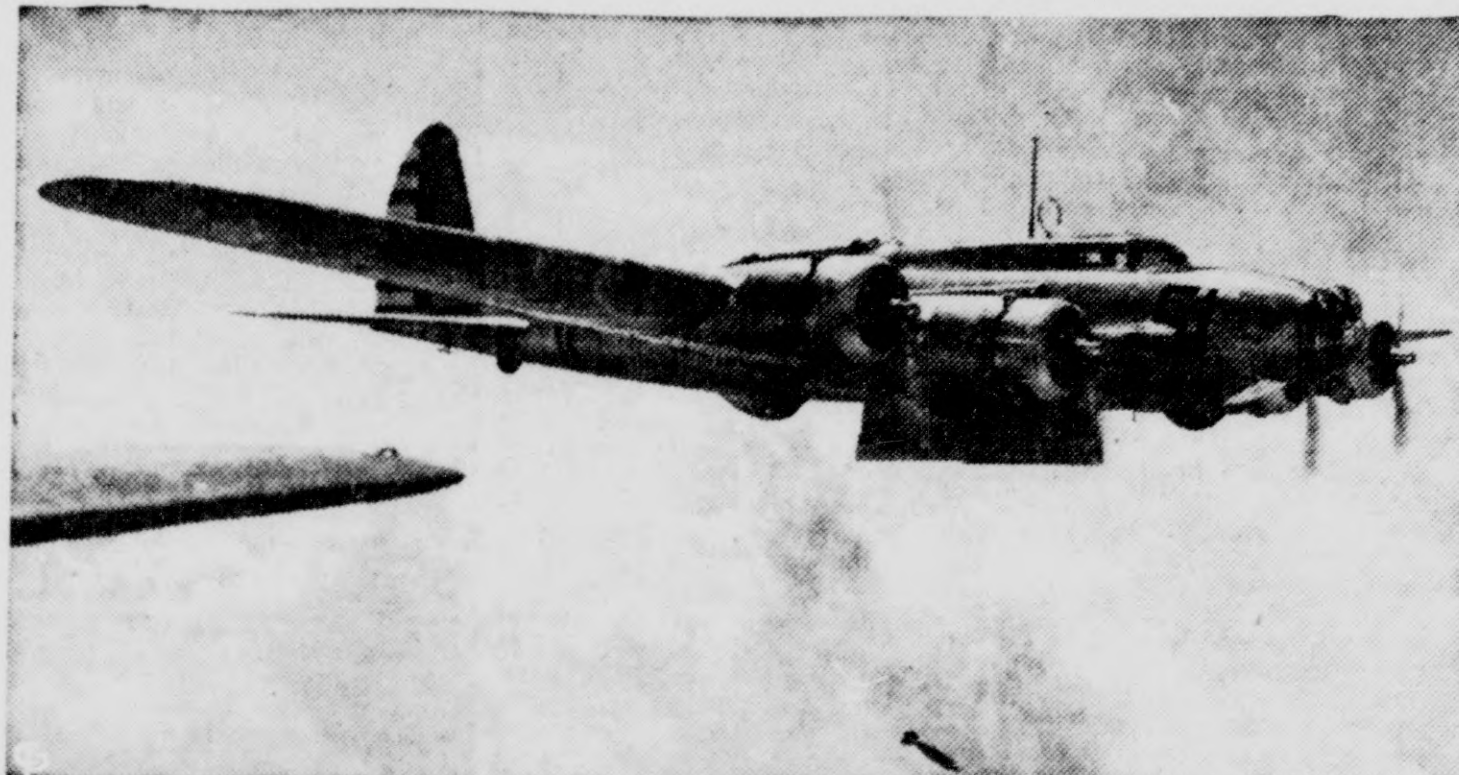

While hundreds of spectators watched, tenants hung from windows, shrieking in despair, until firemen raised ladders and carried them to safety.

Senate Bloc Plans To Battle Convoy Moves

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The senate non-intervention bloc organized today to place drastic restrictions, and attach an anti-convoy resolution to legislation authorizing President Roosevelt to requisition idle foreign ships in U. S. ports.

Sen. Tobey (R-N. H.), a leader of the non-intervention bloc, announced he will offer his anti-convoy resolution when the house-approved measure is reported to the senate from the senate commerce committee.

Considered In Committee

There was a possibility, meanwhile, that some members of the commerce committee will offer a similar anti-convoy ban when the committee begins consideration of legislation today. The move may come from Sen. Clark (D-Mo.) Vandenberg (R-Mich.) or Johnson (R-Calif.). They charge that requisition of the ships would be an act of war.

These three senators are also considering offering committee amendments which would prohibit any of the ships from being transferred to Great Britain or any other belligerent nation, and confine their use to coastal waters.

Senate administration leaders conceded that such moves, if successful, would practically destroy President Roosevelt's desire to obtain the ships through purchase, for additional facilities to carry war materials to Britain and the other countries fighting aggressor nations.

Sen. Bailey (D-N. C.), chairman of the commerce committee, predicted that efforts will be made in the committee to greatly curtail the use of the ships. The administration senators, however, are confident that they have enough strength to vote down any attempts to tie the president's hands, either in committee or on the floor.

President Still Runs Temperature, Confined To Bed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Still running a fraction of a degree of temperature, President Roosevelt again remained in bed under orders of Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, White House physician.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early reported that "the patient was improving and complaining to his doctor" that rest seemed advisable for the chief executive to remain in bed.

Early said the gastro-intestinal upset, which first hit Mr. Roosevelt on Tuesday, had not yet cleared up.

The president, he said, although he has no appointments for the day, was in telephonic communication with various officials. He also saw Harry L. Hopkins, director of the lend-lease program, frequently during the day. Hopkins is a White House resident.

Plans to visit Hyde Park over the week-end have been cancelled.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—In a sweeping move toward "all-out" defense production, the office of production management today granted to the war and navy departments first call on virtually every product of American industry which might be used by the nation's armed forces.

The "blanket order" was contained in an expanded "priorities critical list" of 45 new items, including steel and nearly all other metals, on which the army or navy could obtain delivery ahead of non-defense demands.

The new order issued by E. R. Stettinius, Jr., OPM priorities director, boosted to nearly 300 the items placed under inventory control, but most significant was the "about face" on the definition of parts and accessories affected by the various products.

Included In List.

"The items that appear on this list shall be deemed to include all fabricated, mechanical or electrical component parts and accessories necessary for the completion, maintenance or mechanical operation thereof," the order read.

LONDON, May 8.—Aided by American-built Douglas "Havoc" fighters and with King George VI personally keeping tab on the operations, the Royal Air Force may have destroyed as many as 45 or 46 German bombers last night—the greatest number for any night of the war, the House of Commons was told today.

LONDON, May 8.—Smashing at Nazi raiders with American-built havocs and bean fighters, R. A. F. pilots scored a record-breaking "bag" last night and early today as they sent 23 German bombers spinning to doom.

Planes shot down were estimated to number ten per cent of the total raiding force.

The death-dealing battle raged in the moonlight as the Germans once more hammered Liverpool and other far-flung British sectors, spreading death and damage despite the savage British air attacks.

Nearly all the Nazi airmen shot from the darkened skies perished as their planes plunged to earth.

Other Planes Damaged

In addition to the 23 Nazi planes shot down, a number were reported considerably damaged and some of these were believed to have crashed. A widespread search was under way for the wreckage.

As the Nazi night assaults drew to a close, one formation of British night-fighters sped across the channel.

Authorize Navy To Acquire New Vessels Of Auxiliary Type

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The house naval affairs committee today unanimously approved a bill authorizing the navy to acquire $350,000,000 worth of auxiliary vessels between now and August 1.

Rear Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, told the committee he expected some of the auxiliaries would come from 83 foreign ships in American harbors if a bill permitting the president to requisition them is approved.

The house passed such legislation yesterday and it is now before the senate.

This was the first official indication that the navy plans to take over and arm any of this foreign tonnage.

Tax Program Faces Drastic Revision

High Officials Oppose Outline

Eccles And Henderson Oppose Views Of Treasury Department On Tax Bill

MEASURE BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The treasury's $3,500,000,000 tax program faces drastic revision by the house ways and means committee as the result of slashing attacks on it by two high New Deal officials, committee members indicated today.

A scaling down of treasury proposals for tax increases in the low income and middle class groups and elimination of many proposed excise and "nuisance" taxes appear likely. Excess profits taxes may be sharply boosted.

Assails Proposals.
While endorsing neither taxes to hold down prices and prevent inflation, both Gov. Marriner Eccles of the federal reserve board and Leon Henderson, price administrator, assailed many treasury proposals.

These officials were reported to have the backing of President Roosevelt against the treasury committee members' proposals.

"I think the testimony of Eccles and Henderson will have a marked effect on the tax program," said Rep. Robertson (D) Va. "Their appeal for less drastic increases in income taxes on lower income groups may be followed, as well as elimination of many excise taxes."

Hits Low Income Tax Hard.
"The criticism all along of the treasury plan has been that it hits low income and middle class groups too hard," said Rep. Treadway (R) Mass. "I like many of their suggestions."

"They were talking along my lines," said Rep. Duncan (D) Mo. "Their criticism of many excise taxes such as those proposed on candy and similar articles was sound," said Rep. McLean (R) N. J. "Excise taxes should be levied on commodities which compete with the defense program."

Eccles admitted to the committee that he conferred with Henderson before they testified on taxation.

LONDON ASSERTS FRANCE BOWS TO AXIS DEMANDS

mier Admiral Jean Darlan during his consultations with German authorities at Paris had accepted terms that included full economic and industrial collaboration.

(Editor's note: An official Vichy announcement yesterday said Germany had made concessions to Vichy, easing regulations governing the demarcation line between occupied and unoccupied France and reducing the cost to France of the German occupation.)

Not Yet Revealed
(Today another dispatch from Vichy stated Darlan had returned there from Paris but that the concessions made in return by France had not yet been revealed.)

(German government quarters were not communicative regarding reports of a new agreement with the Vichy government, a Berlin dispatch stated. These circles merely pointed to the Vichy announcement regarding German concessions and hinted that negotiations probably would be continued.)

London quarters said they understood Germany is to receive full production from French war industries and also that American materials in France such as cotton, ore, explosives, magnetos, zinc, copper and various machine parts will be incorporated in this production for Germany.

Use Of Navy
Passage of Nazi troops through unoccupied France to the Spanish border and Axis use of the French navy are said to be included in the reported capitulation. Use of the navy was reportedly granted to the Reich only on condition that if French submarines are used in the battle of the Atlantic they will be manned by French crews, although they may be accompanied by German navigators and technicians.

Chief of State Marshal Henri Petain was pictured as taking his "first step into exile," handing over his power to Darlan.

London quarters said they believed Germany's next step in this pressure campaign will be to beat down on Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco for the same privileges in preparation for a Nazi attack on Gibraltar.

parts and accessories of the various items as those "which are designed to meet military specifications, and as designed are not commercially useful for civilian purposes."

Thus, OPM spokesmen explained, the army and navy, if they desire, may place on their preferred delivery list almost any item which armed forces could use in camp or on the march, even if it were designed primarily for civilian use.

The same spokesmen added, however, that they did not expect the war and navy departments to invoke priorities on all items unless necessary.

MANY CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS FORECAST U.S. LEADERS FORECAST

up public sentiment for "convoys" to such a degree that Mr. Roosevelt will have to agree whether or not he favors their use.

A part of their strategy too is to charge the president with being "too timid" and to demand that he take stronger and more vigorous steps to guarantee delivery of American aid to Britain.

Terrific Campaign
In the last two weeks there has been a terrific campaign for "convoys." Secretary of State Hull began it by demanding "ways must be found" to get material aid to Britain "in the shortest time in maximum quantity." Secretary of the Navy Knox followed by demanding that "we must make our promise good to give aid to Britain."

There followed endorsements of "convoys" by such business leaders as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Thomas E. Lamont of the J. P. Morgan firm, and Wendell Willkie, the GOP presidential nominee of 1940. After them came the political wethers of congress—Sen. Guffey of Pennsylvania, Rep. Vinson of Georgia and Sen. Pepper of Florida—calling for "convoys."

Lastly, Secretary of War Stimson demanded that the United States navy be used to "make secure the seas for deliveries of our munitions to Great Britain." A few hours later, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill told his own parliament that American patrols in the Atlantic were relieving the British fleet of considerable duty "but we need a good deal more help and I expect that we shall get a good deal more."

See "Handwriting"
To the average member of congress, all this campaigning for "convoys" represents the "handwriting on the wall." Frankly, they expect the president to order "convoys" as soon as he believes the nation is ready for this action.

Some informed administration authorities question the real purpose behind this "convoy" campaign, because they do not believe "convoys" can give material help to Britain. These authorities say Britain faces a far more acute problem in getting merchantmen safely into harbors and unloaded at British docks than in getting the ships safely across the Atlantic. They add that British ship losses in narrow channels entering ports and at docks far exceed their losses on the broad Atlantic.

Views Supported

These views are supported by the report of Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, who declared that only eight ships, clearing from U. S. ports to Britain, had been sunk between Dec. 30, 1940, and March 31, 1941. Land added that "only a small portion" of vessels, leaving American ports, had "failed to reach their destination."

Consequently, these authorities suspect the "convoy" issue is being used as a stepping stone toward making the United States a full partner of Britain in the second world war. Their philosophy is that the United States is being led into war step by step—repeal of the arms embargo, gift of destroyers, American construction of bases in British territory, "all out aid to Britain," the lease-lend bill, the seizure of axis ships in American ports—then convoys, then war.

Against this philosophy stands the pledge of President Roosevelt to the American people:

"Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars."

GERMAN RAIDERS SUFFER BIG LOSS IN NIGHT ATTACK

nel and patrolled the German-occupied French bases, waiting for the German bombers to return.

Lurking high in the sky the British fliers spied their prey and swooped, destroying three Nazi planes and seriously damaging others, it was claimed.

While these battles were in progress, British bombers hammered northwestern Germany, the Nazi-occupied French port of Brest and other objectives in occupied territory. At Brest direct hits were claimed on the German battle cruisers Scharnhorst and Gneisenau.

Damage By Nazi Raids

This afternoon last-minute reports revealed considerable damage to industrial buildings, homes, schools and churches as a result of last night's German raids. In various towns rescue workers were still laboring to extricate civilians trapped by debris.

A hospital in a western England town suffered a direct bomb hit and a number of blocks were destroyed, killing 11 women, while a few more perished when a surface air raid shelter was blasted.

This morning, beginning at dawn, British fighters ceaselessly patrolled the Thames Estuary and the south-east coast. Occasional bursts of machine gunfire were heard but no bombs were dropped.

One German Messerschmitt swooped from the clouds and machine-gunned a coastal town but caused no casualties.

Watch Dog Fight
R. A. F. planes chased off other raiders which operated in pairs and flew at altitudes of 20,000 feet over coastal regions.

People in the streets of one south-east town watched a terrific dog-fight involving 15 German and British planes. Bursts of cannon shells were clearly visible for many minutes before the Germans broke off the fight and raced for the French coast.

The tremendous night "bag" of German planes followed a day of intense aerial activity during which seven other German planes were destroyed, bringing the total for the past 24 hours to 30.

It also brought the number of German planes destroyed during the past seven nights to 73.

The sensational demonstration of the growing prowess of Britain's night fighters was staged while King George VI visited one of the active night-lighting R. A. F. stations.

The monarch gave his good wishes to the pilots as they sped into the darkness in search of their prey and watched their planes roar away from the blacked-out airfield.

SUFFERS SHOCK FROM LIGHTNING

John Coulter of R. F. D. No. 5, the Old Plank road, suffered a severe shock about 8 o'clock last evening while using the telephone at the home of Martin Fobes, a neighbor, when a bolt of lightning followed the phone wire into the house.

Coulter was knocked to the floor and suffered burns of the arm and abdomen, but recovered from the effects in a short time, and was able to go to his work at McDonald, O., later.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HELP CHILD DEVELOP CONSCIENCE

A good many years ago in a little red school house I wrote in my copy book: "Strive to keep alive in thy breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience."—George Washington. I then believed, as did those who reared and taught me, that there was such a thing as conscience. I still believe there is. In my youth I often heard the word referred to. During the past 25 years, I have rarely heard the word or seen it in print. It seems to have almost entirely vanished from textbooks for teachers, books on character education, even on religious education.

Instead of conscience has grown up the expression, "What is the best thing to do right now?" Interpreted and practiced by many, it means "What you can get away with." What you can get away with unapprehended is right; what you get caught at is wrong.

In the modern school, especially high school, there are not many ways for a student to do wrong without being apprehended. Outside of school the student is on his own. He may not be discovered in wrong doing, but his conscience alone is his guide in choosing right from wrong. What are the school and home and church doing to make growing boys and girls want to choose to do right when no one can see them or is likely to catch them?

Is Remorse Harmful? Conscience is made up chiefly of feelings. With a good conscience one feels worried and unhappy at choosing and doing what one knows is wrong. It makes one pleased and happy at choosing and doing what one knows is right. This tendency to feel grows out of our earlier habits, feelings and ideals which are associated chiefly with those we have loved and respected.

Recently at Boston, before the New England regional meeting of the Child Welfare League of America, I heard Dr. Frederick Rosenheim, psychiatrist of the Judge Baker Guidance Clinic, say: "There is much to be said for the oft-quoted New England proverb: 'We have made too much fun of good character and religion. Too long we have assumed that religion understands only the good in man and psychology only the bad. Having analyzed the problem in a person we need to be able to make him want to struggle to be better and to show him how.'"

In the forum I asked Dr. Rosenheim about the "fashionable" warning by some specialists against remorse. His was the commonsense reply that remorse is bad only if it hinders effort to improve in conduct and character, but very good if it helps. Now to be able to have remorse is to have a conscience. Don't we want our children to cultivate a good conscience which will help them strive to do right when they don't have to, when no one might know about it, or when they could avoid being caught?

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:01. Sun rises tomorrow 4:51.

There are too many people in the world who let other people do their thinking for them.

It seems that dresses are shorter than ever this year—but not because of a scarcity of dress material.

This country has depended upon France for rabbit hair and now we cannot get any more from there on account of the war. No doubt this will also mean a scarcity of seal coats.

A real he-man is one who can make his wife happy by letting her boss and yet not feel like a martyr.

Next year they threaten to tax our shirts off our backs. The New Deal may become a Nude Deal.

Already we are being told that there are ten per cent less turkeys in this country than there were a year ago. Gobble!

CALORIES PLUS
I see my girl friend
Slowly shaking her head,
When she refuses
Potatoes and bread.
She looks at the butter,
The cream and the pie,
With eyes full of longing,
Then heaves a deep sigh.
She thinks what will happen,
Then turns sickly pale,
If the dial shows more
When she steps on the scale.
Now, with me it is different—
I don't give a fig;
I'm fat and I know it
And what if I'm big?
At least when folks see me
They know I'm well fed.
So I eat all I want
And just sit there and

One of the main streets in Athens has been renamed "Roosevelt Avenue." Wonder where it leads?

Barbers in an Ohio city are going to change the price of a hair cut from 50 cents to 60 cents and a shave from 25 cents to 35 cents. Looks like the safety razor people are getting in their work.

In a California jail a prisoner was discovered unscrewing electric light bulbs and eating them with his dinner. Wonder what college is his alumni?

"I paid $100 for that dog. He's part collie and part bull."
"What part is bull?"
"The part about $100."

A million less automobiles will be made in 1942 we are told now. That will also put a lot of loan companies out of business.

It looks as if it is a good thing not to pay taxes when they are due. Laws are being passed now to abate the penalties.

New York instructor finds there are fewer accidents on paydays. Suggesting the ideal safety slogan: More paydays.

We had lunch today in a restaurant that we seldom visit and there ran across an acquaintance who is a bachelor, in his thirties. He seemed glad to see us, and after a few minutes of conversation disclosed that he was lonesome.

"When I was living at home," he said, "I thought marriage was a trap for weak-willed men. I thought that sex was the bait with which women lured men into paying their bills for food and shelter and clothing. It seemed perfectly idiotic to give up my independence and acquire the debts, the restrictions, and the bickering and bossing that go with marriage."

After putting a while, a man doesn't change slowly. For pride's sake he changes slowly, so he won't seem to be repenting.

Good Taste

See U. S. Patent Office

Several years, doing as I please, eating wherever I choose, going and coming as I like, I'm not so sure that my friends who married were wise. I think I might sacrifice some of my independence in exchange for the comforts of home and the companionship of a wife, even though she did try to reform me.

"Some girl who can cook will get him soon."

"What happened when you told your mother-in-law that the house was too small for both of you to live in?"

"She raised the roof."

Boston woman, 105 years old, was burned severely when her gown caught fire from a cigarette she was smoking in bed. The younger generation is getting pretty careless.

A lot of people around here will know this year that June 14 is flag day in Pennsylvania.

An East Side man was having the trouble that most young husbands have in getting used to the new bride's cooking. "What is the matter with this steak?" he asked. "It tastes awful." "I can't understand it," sighed the bride. "It is true that I burned it a little, but promptly applied sunburn lotion."

At a North Hill dinner party the other evening the little group was discussing pets. A guest made the remark: "No gentleman will kick a child, dog cat or his wife."

He reached into his pocket and pulled out a paper sack, shook its contents on the table and out rolled a nice-looking ham sandwich. The professor looked at it, perplexed, scratched his head and muttered: "That's funny! I distinctly remember eating my lunch."

It isn't true that married men live longer than single men. . . . It just seems longer!

A married man of a couple of years made this wise crack: "I understand that married women are exempted in the co-scription probably on the theory that they are already well trained in the art of self defense."

Many struggling shop girls marry the man because they are tired of struggling.

FALSE ALARM
Patient (coming out from under the ether):
"Why are all the blinds drawn, doctor?"
Doctor: "Well, there's a fire across the alley, and I didn't want you to wake up and think the operation was a failure."

Woman's best asset is man's imagination.

Wise man do not worship luck.

"I think most business offices need a little advice on the treatment of visitors of 'lesser importance.' Sales representatives may not be able to crash the gate and see the Big Boss, but at least they should be given courteous treatment at the hands of the secretary or receptionist. There is great room for the improvement of office manners. Don't you think so?"—Salesman.

Answer: Your letter reminds me of a recent item in one of the newspapers about one of the Washington Bigwigs. He says he never refused to see a caller. "If a visitor has no business seeing," he states, "I can ease him out myself." An executive whose nerves do not give him the advantage of such technique should select a receptionist or secretary who has proved herself adept at tact and diplomacy. For even the lowliest peddler is trying honestly to make a living and therefore deserves the courtesy and respect of all whom he approaches. Usually, there are assistants to important executives who "take over" to find out what an unknown visitor's business is. If it is really with the executive, he is admitted. If not, one of the assistants should give him courteous treatment. Many a "big deal" has been ruined by an underling's unwittingly insulting an important client—mistaking him for a salesman rather than a purchaser.

Question: Just what is the correct procedure toward gaining membership in a club?—Jack.

Answer: In some clubs it is quite possible to join by simply applying for membership and filling out an application which the club board ratifies, as a formality. In such clubs, membership is open to those fulfilling certain obligations, such as having been graduated from a certain college or maintaining certain principles or beliefs. In most clubs the suggestion must come from an established member who may put up to the board of governors a friend's name for election. If you know a member of the club to which you would like to belong, ask him if he will try to arrange a membership for you. After you have made this suggestion, do not pursue the matter further. The next advance should come from the member who will let you know if the news is good and probably avoid the subject if your name has been rejected. It is in better taste to refrain from visiting the club during the time in which your name is being posted.

Question: A chum of mine is to be married soon. Her wedding will be private, including members of her family only. Would it be correct for me to give her a shower?—Edith.

Answer: Yes. The fact that her wedding will be private makes no difference. I think she will doubtless appreciate such thoughtfulness on your part.

Tomorrow—The Importance of Courtesy.

A fan dancer is just a nudist with a cooling system.

FROG IN HIS THROAT
The absent-minded professor called his biology class to order shortly after the lunch hour.
"Our special work this afternoon," he said, "will be cutting up and inspecting the inward workings of a frog. I have a frog here in my pocket to be used as a specimen."
He reached into his pocket and pulled out a paper sack, shook its contents on the table and out rolled a nice-looking ham sandwich. The professor looked at it, perplexed, scratched his head and muttered: "That's funny! I distinctly remember eating my lunch."

Capitol Lacks Unity On Many Issues
Lindbergh Fails To Win Much Sympathy
Other Questions Arouse Many Arguments

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Washington's public men are unified all right on the subject of national defense. They also are predominantly united on the subject of aid-thedemocracies, though there's quite a contingent that favors keeping some more or less tight strings on it.

Otherwise, however, if ever I saw a time when there was so little unity in our capital than there is today.

I don't remember it.

For instance, expressed opinions

as to the Charley Lindbergh case are too mixed to make heads or tails out of.

I don't think Lindy generally is a popular character. Ultra-isolationists endorse his position on the administration's foreign policy. But many, even of them, say they still don't like him personally. So, when

President Roosevelt bawled him out, not many spokesmen raised their voices in defense of him.

Nevertheless, quite a few, not isolationists alone, but strong supporters of the administration said he wrote a very effective message to the White House in resigning his colonel's commission in the army air corps.

They disagree with him entirely in the super-isolationistic position he takes, but their judgment is that he was entitled to argue for it. They say he undoubtedly is a violent specimen of an isolationist and an appeaser and that the President properly so described him but they don't feel that F. D. R. was justified in virtually classifying him as a traitor. They quote Voltaire, in answer to a political opponent,

"I dissent from every word you say, but I'll fight to the death in defense of your right to say it."

Sir Gerald Campbell, a minister attached to the British embassy in Washington, didn't help matters by panning Lindy the didn't mention his name but it unmistakably was Charley to whom he was referring in a speech the other night. "The White House tenant's right to express himself (up to a certain point)

isn't questioned, but critics, including some very loyal administrationists, remark that it was exceedingly poor taste for a Briton to break into the controversy."

It's the consensus that Presidential Private Secretary Steve Early scored handsomely with his query,

"Does Lindy, besides resigning his colonelcy, intend to return the decoration he got from Herr Hitler?"

There also are administrationists who wish that Thomas W. Lamont of the house of Morgan had omitted

the alarmist speech he recently made in Detroit. They're afraid it will revive talk of the part J. P.

The cast of "Young April" follows: Professor McIntyre, Harold Eddy, Mrs. McIntyre, Beatrice Saylor, George McIntyre, Fred Thompson, Lula, Sally Lou Fehl, Vivian, Dorothy Rowland, Elsie, Jean Cameron, Brian Stanley, Tom Middleton, Terry McIntyre, Lucy Ann Rubert, Best Parsons, Louis Misco, Dutch—Andy Harcar, Pete, Harold Cartwright, Stewart Miller, David Davies, Mrs. Miller, Mary Jane McGinty, Mildred, Eleanor Berry, Jane—Betty Whitehead, Diane Gilmore, Polly Butz.

Woman Confesses Bank Embezzlement

(International News Service) NEWARK, N. J., May 8.—Conscience caused Mrs. Edith Mae McManus of Harrison, N. J., to confess embezzlement of $21,400 from the West Hudson National bank although the money had not been missed, federal agents revealed today.

An employee of 20 years standing, Mrs. McManus was reported to have admitted tapping bank funds for the past ten years. Bank officials said she was highly regarded by the staff. Following a guilty plea at her arraignment she was freed on $3,500 bail.

of a great war, and thus, with slight public notice, the government will refuse to take a step, urged by its own financial authorities, to guard against a great danger.

THIS is by no means an isolated instance of the President's refusal to back up his own trusted aides. A short time ago Mr. Morgenthau told the House committee that nearly a billion dollars might—and should—be saved by reducing normal expenses. This was in line with what the President himself had said in January. However, when he wrote his letter to Chairman Doughton of the ways and means committee, urging the new taxes, he neglected not only to back up Mr. Morgenthau but never mentioned the subject of retrenchment. A day or so later the committee indicated its desire for the Morgenthau economy, though the President has not referred to it.

IT is a bad state of affairs. Here is the great federal reserve board, appointed by the President, asking him to adopt one course and the President adopting exactly the reverse course. Here, too, are the Secretary of the Treasury and the ways and means committee insisting upon a great cut in normal governmental expenditures, while the President fails to follow through and has, in fact, lent his influence to increasing at least one appropriation 100 per cent. With such a complete lack of coordination and coherence, there is danger of the whole fiscal program drifting into chaos. It would be almost in the nature of a miracle if Congress, without Presidential leadership, should do the things essential to stability. But that seems the only hope.

The Responsibility Of The Home Regarding Beverage Alcohol

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 11 is Deut. 6:4-7; Jer. 35:5-10, the Golden Text being Prov. 22:6, "Train up a child in the way he should go. And even when he is old he will not depart from it.")

The Book of Deuteronomy, from which the first part of our lesson today is taken, was written somewhere between 1450 and 1500 B.C., and the particular chapter of Jeremiah quoted in the second part of the lesson was probably composed about 604 B.C.

The entire book of Deuteronomy is devoted to the truths revealed to Israel while the nation was wandering for 40 years in the wilderness. The prophecy of Jeremiah was uttered near or in Jerusalem.

"Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord. And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

"And thou shalt teach these words diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. In other words, our religion, our love of our Maker should not be something we confine to Sunday when we go to church and Sunday school, but something vital to us; that we talk about in our homes. It is to be a part of our daily lives. We think and speak of it when we get up in the morning and through the day, and when we sit at our dinner tables, and when we go to bed. It is the guiding principle of our lives. We love God and try to be worthy of Him and all He does for us."

Lesson on Temperance From Jeremiah we have a fine lesson on temperance, which is the real topic of our lesson. It tells of the descendants of one Jonadab or Jehonadab, who appears elsewhere in the Bible as the ally of Jehu in the overthrow of the house of Ahab in II Kings 10:15. He is described as the "son of Rechab," but as that name means "chariot," and was applied to the great Tishbite prophet, it has been thought that the name "son of Rechab" may mean "son of the chariot."

At any rate, those sons of Rechab were taken to the house of the Lord and wine was set before them and they were invited to drink.

"But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father command us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye nor your sons forever."

Few are as faithful to household commands as these men. And it rarely seems enough in these days to command that sons and daughters shall abstain from drink. But the home is the place where good habits and fine principles are taught.

The Golden Text

"Train up a child in the way he should go. And even when he is old he will not depart from it." —Prov. 22:6.

And the parents are the ones to set the good example. If they never drink intoxicating beverages and never use such liquors, the children are much more likely to follow their example.

The home is the place where good morals are taught. A father and mother who are honest, loyal to each other and to their community and country; who are loving and sincere, truthful and upright in all their ways, will almost surely instill these qualities into their children.

No Use Being Shocked There is no use in parents being shocked at finding that their sons and daughters lie, cheat and drink if they do these things themselves. "The hand that rocks the cradle" does "rule the world." That is not only a pretty saying. It is a great truth. If every man and woman in the world could have had a happy home of loving, tolerant, high-minded, just parents, the wars and all other cruelties we are witnessing would never have been.

Not only did these sons of Rechab obey their father in the matter of drinking wine, but they also lived in tents, as he bade them, and built no houses; nor did they own fields or plant vineyards or seeds. The idea seemed to be to keep this tribe free from the vices that might come from owning property or living in cities.

Our ideals no longer require us to live in tents, as he faraway ancestors did, and it is no sin to own fields and to cultivate food and flowers thereon. It is a virtue. But it is still a wise rule to refuse wine and other intoxicating beverages when they are offered, thinking of the many lives lost each year because of excessive drinking, and the wreckage of many homes.

Let us be strong for the right, and "train up our children in the way they should go, so that even when they are old, they will not depart from it."

accused of playing in setting the United States into the last war.

And how's this for unity? G. O. P. National Chairman Joseph W. Martin, though a Republican, has declared for it emphatically. Discussing, as a newspaperman, the administration's plea for a "voluntary press censorship," he queried, "What's its object? Then, 'It's a device of political bureaucrats to cover up the waste, graft and inefficiency of national defense under the management of New Deal theorists.'"

Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt certainly is an administrationist. He doesn't predict that our emergency activities will cost us the "social reforms we've effected in the last eight years," but he served warning in a recent talk that we mustn't let it happen. "They're democracy's cream," he declared. "I don't believe we're going to give them up—and then give our lives to defend the skimmed milk."

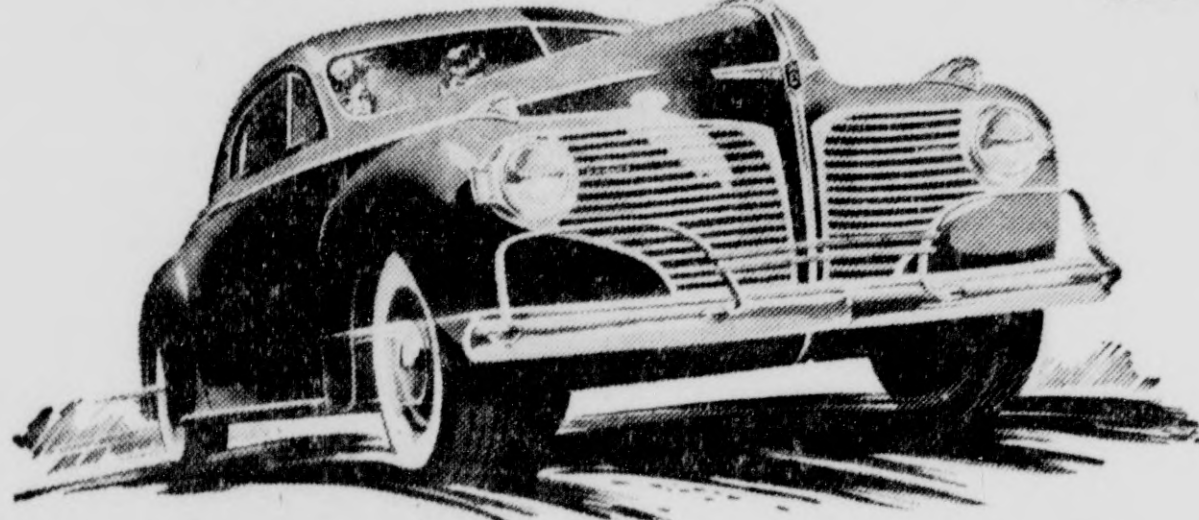

And In Congress Disunited-sounding comment is the regular thing in congress. Illustratively, a few days ago a House of Representatives committee was discussing methods for the legal acquisition of Axis ships we've commandeered in our harbors. Said congressman Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "It disturbs me to see us take the line that we're living in a world of burglars and might as well be burglars ourselves." Said Congressman James C. Oliver of Maine, "We take steps toward war, one by one, but haven't the nerve to declare war."

Among themselves our various defensive bureaus squabble. As a sample, considerable fault has been found with selective service for exempting or deferring so many registrants. Accordingly, it's trying to do better. Indeed, it's suggested that boys with curable physical defects be drafted for doctoring. Then, after they've been cured, as conscripted patients, they're to be militarily inducted. Now comes Director Knudsen's Office of Production Management with a loud howl that selective service is militarily grabbing so many lads that defensive industries are being crippled. O. P. M. doesn't want S. S. to be so grasping. "Ten skilled tool and die makers are worth a regiment," says an O. P. M. official.

Oh, we're united—to the extent that we seem to be falling all over one another.

ESTHER SIBBERSON TO
WED ERNEST B. GASTON

"It's A Match" was the inscription found on curious little white envelopes place markers enfolding a message to members of the S. Y. W. club and two guests, Mrs. Tom Boyle and Mrs. E. C. Clark, Wednesday evening, and upon opening, unique match holders were found inside, telling the news "Esther and Ernest—July 4, 1941" making known the engagement and approaching marriage of their hostess, Miss Esther Sibbersson, Meyer avenue, to Ernest B. Gaston of Pittsburgh.

A tasty "Dutch" lunch was enjoyed at a late hour, and during the serving of dessert, the news, which took the group by complete surprise, was read in the glow of two white lighted candles. These, guarding an arrangement of valley lilies, adorning the center of the long table, further carried out the all white theme.

Preceding this feature, attention was given to contests in 500, with prizes for honors falling to Miss Teresa McGivern, Mrs. Robert Hartman and Miss Helen Miller.

The occasion served a triple purpose. In addition to telling of the hostess wedding plans, it also marked her birthday anniversary and to commemorate this feature, a dinner party was served at 6 o'clock, to another circle of guests by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Sibbersson, at her home. An array of lovely personal gifts, were presented the honoree.

Impose Drastic Restrictions On Alien Seamen

Approximately 160 Nazi Seamen Rounded Up In Nation Wednesday

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—After rounding up approximately 160 Nazi seamen in six cities, the Justice Department imposed drastic restrictions on the admission of alien sailors into the United States.

Determined to prevent the influx of aliens serving aboard commercial shipping, Attorney General Jackson announced that under new regulations alien seamen may be granted shore leave only for the period their vessel remains in an American port. Jackson ordered a 30-day maximum established and said any extension must be approved by the immigration bureau. Formerly alien seamen were permitted to remain ashore 60 days and to ship aboard any vessel leaving an American port within that period. Shore leave only will be granted to those who carry proper identification showing them to be bona fide seamen.

Wednesday's round-up was carried on by immigration agents in New York, San Francisco, Baltimore, Miami, Philadelphia and Kansas City. The German seamen taken into custody will be placed in detention camps in Montana, North Dakota and New Mexico.

Pretty Aerial Star With Wallace Brothers Circus

Pictured above is the dainty Miss Emma Ward, often known as the "Queen of the Air" and without a doubt, the world's greatest aerial gymnast in the history of the circus, who while suspended by one arm throws her body more than 100 revolutions over her right shoulder in a breathless exhibition of unbelievable endurance and will be seen amongst the countless array of stupendous features this season with the Wallace Brothers Circus for afternoon and evening performances in New Castle on Monday, May 12.

Many Delightful Aerial Features
Wallace Brothers Circus which comes to New Castle for two performances on Monday, May 12 has assembled what is believed to be the greatest aggregation of aerial stars ever witnessed beneath the billowing city blue tops.

Heading the contingent of peerless acrobatic di-devils will be the petite star who has won fame throughout the world, Miss Emma Ward, who has recently returned from European appearances and will be seen once again in her death-defying exhibition in the lofty heights of the circus arena. The Great Arley Troupe who execute difficult feats upon towering perch poles. The sensational Grecos who risk certain death on aerial rigging suspended in the big top. The Morillo-Savilla Troupe, a novelty acrobatic ensemble. The Flying Harrells offer a new series of mid-air thrills upon their trapeze bars executing twisting somersaults and hand to hand catches.

Besides the bevy of aerial thrills Wallace Brothers Circus will also introduce an entirely new line-up of other delicacies ever loved by oldsters and youngsters, including troupes of acrobats, equilibrists, wire artists, performing seals, sea lions, educated dogs, 40 tons of massive elephants and three troupes of trained horses besides an army of much-provoking funsters.

Heading the wild west features will be Lee Powell, the original talking picture "Lone Ranger" who was recently seen in the screen epic "Hi-Yo, Siver". Col. Ted Lewis also appears with his Oklahoma Ranch Cowboys and all will introduce a spine-tingling display of western sports and pastimes.

Heading the circle this year will be Baron Richard Nowak, the smallest man ever known in the world. The little fellow stands 23 inches in height—tips the scales at 17 pounds and is 20 years of age.

TAKING SHORT COURSE.

Most Of Strike Responsibility Is Placed Upon C. I. O.

President Green Of A. F. Of L. Says C. I. O. Had 90 Per Cent Of Year's Strikes

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 8.—Blaming the C. I. O. with responsibility for 90 per cent of work stoppage in defense industries, A. F. of L. President William L. Green on Wednesday warned the Congress that the compulsory labor mediation "will only serve to breed lawlessness and unrest."

Green appeared before the House judiciary committee, which has under consideration several bills to provide "cooling off" periods and compulsory mediation before defense strikes can be called.

He said from July of 1940 to April 23, 1941, there were 61 "important" strikes in defense industries, of which 47 were by C. I. O. unions, involving 92.5 per cent of all workers who struck and 91.5 per cent of the total man-days of idleness.

"The record speaks for itself," he declared. "It shows that more than 90 per cent of the idleness was brought about by disputes of the C. I. O. organizations."

Urging Congress to let labor continue to aid in the defense program on a cooperative voluntary basis, Green said "American labor is not prepared to accept compulsion."

"Compulsory waiting periods are founded on the principle that American workers can be forced to work against their will," he declared. "Such an assumption is false and short sighted."

Reputed Key Nazi Propagandists Are Held Without Bond

Deportation Proceedings To Be Launched Against Zapp And Tonn In New York

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 8.—The department of justice today prepared to launch deportation proceedings against Manfred Zapp and Guenther Tonn, reputed key Nazi propagandists, as internment camps in Montana, North Dakota and New Mexico were made ready to receive 175 German seamen seized throughout the country by federal immigration agents.

Climaxing the roundup of the German sailors, Zapp, chief of the Transocean News Service, and his assistant, Tonn, were arrested in New York late yesterday because of a change in their status from the time they entered the country as "treaty merchants".

They were ordered held without bond pending deportation proceedings and taken to Ellis Island and locked up. Justice department officials said that deportation proceedings will begin "immediately".

Zapp and Tonn had been out on bond since their indictment March 11 on charges of violating the foreign agents registration act.

Moving to prevent any possible subversive activities, immigration agents rounded up the German sailors in New York, Newark, Jersey City and Bayonne, N. J., Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Miami, San Francisco and Kansas City. The men were picked up on warrants charging they had overstayed their statutory leave in the U. S.

While deportation proceedings are pending against them, it was indicated that the sailors would be sent from Ellis Island, where they were taken after the roundup, to the internment camps.

Spring Concert On Friday Night

New Wilmington High School Musical Organizations To Present Program

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, May 8.—New Wilmington high school's musical organizations, under the direction of Robert Johnson, will present a spring concert this Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Community House. A guest soloist, soprano Betty Hayes of Trinity Junior high school, will be featured.

The girls' chorus, girls' trio, mixed chorus, and boys' octet will participate in the concert. All of these groups will be in the county contests held in New Wilmington in March, and the octet will be the district event and placed third in the state finals held recently in New Castle.

Mrs. W. C. Henderson, Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, has been appointed to a place on the library committee of the state D. A. R. organization. Mrs. Henderson is president of the Neshannock chapter of the D. A. R.

The next meeting of the local chapter of the D. A. R. will be held in the home of Mrs. Henderson on Monday, May 12. After a business meeting, a program on "The American Woman in Music" will be presented.

The next meeting of the New Wilmington Kiwanis Club will be held on Monday, May 12, in the Methodist church. At the regular monthly meeting of the executive committee, held last week in the home of President Harry Gravenstreter, it was decided that the anniversary banquet of the club take place on June 10 at Youngstown.

A committee, to be headed by President Gravenstreter, was also named to represent the local club at the district meeting set for Beaver Falls on May 8.

PICKETS HALT ENTRY
(International News Service) VANDERGRIFT, Pa., May 8.—Nine automobile loads of workers attempted to enter the struck plant of the United Engineering and Foundry company here today, but were forced back by C. I. O.-S. W. O. C. picket lines.

Minor fist fights were reported, but no one was injured. One car was damaged slightly. The caravan approached the plant gate about 7:30 this morning, carrying about 125 men. Westmoreland county police and local officers separated the strikers and non-strikers after minor disturbances. No one entered the plant.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR LIBRARY GIVEN

Public library radio programs for May were announced today as follows by Miss Alice Sterling, librarian:

May 14—"Book Review."

May 21—"Brief Reviews of New Books."

May 28—"Memorial Day."

First May program was given this morning by Miss Sterling, at which time she featured the book of poetry "Sunrise to Sunset" by Gerald G. Doverspike, who writes poems for the Oil City Derrick and other periodicals.

The nations picked off one at a time could have won if they had acted together, yet still we wait for England to be knocked out.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

All forms of life are subject to infectious diseases.

Viruses, or tiny microorganisms, carry infections from man down to bacteria.

Plants and lower animals suffer from virus diseases much as does man.

Tobacco, potatoes, corn, tomatoes, beets, lettuce, sugar-cane are affected.

Viruses cause hoof and mouth disease among cattle and hog cholera in swine.

Diseases of horses, chickens and birds are carried by germs.

All infectious diseases are spread from one to another, man, plant or animal.

Most virus diseases of man are spread through contact or by droplet infection.

Droplet infection is spread thru sneezing, coughing or expectorating.

Bacteriography is a virus disease which attacks bacteria itself.

Without bacteria life in all forms on earth would quickly cease.

We need bacterial life but infectious diseases cause great suffering and loss.

In the first half of the City Tenpin league the City captured the championship and the Eagles won the second half. However, in the play-off the Eagles came through over Jimmy McCormick's team. In the Industrial circuit the Moose won first place in both halves.

Reds Shortstop Has Busy Day

Eddie Joost Accepts 19 Chances Against Giants As Reds Win 1 To 0 On Wednesday

PIRATES BEATEN BY BOSTON BRAVES

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Writer)
NEW YORK, May 8.—It should be apparent by this time to the various hosiery traders around the National league that Bill McKechnie, the good grey deacon of the Reds, is a pretty fair judge of ball players on the hoof.

There was some disposition to doubt this last winter when the shrewd Scot let Billy Myers go to the Cubs.

"What," asked the eyebrow lifter, "is Bill going to do for a shortstop?"

And there were loud Guffaws when Bill blandly announced that Eddie Joost would take care of that spot for him.

"Joost?" they echoed. "Ha, ha, a dime a dozen guy in anybody's book."

Joost Equals Record
Now if those scoffers will take a gander at today's box scores, they will discover that this same Eddie Joost is the joint holder of the record for number of chances accepted by a shortstop.

Eddie came up with 19 chances against the Giants yesterday and if he had not thrown wild trying to complete a fifth double play for the Reds, he might have had an even 20 as it was, he had nine putouts and 10 assists.

This equals the mark set by one D. Richardson for Washington when Washington was in the National league back in 1892. It tops all marks since the turn of the century. J. H. Sand turned in 18 for the Phillies in 1924 and Bobby Wallace holds the American league mark—17—made for the Browns in 1902.

Joost's brilliant fielding, Bucky Walters' steady pitching and Ernie Lombardi's homer were the big factors in the Reds 1-0 victory over Hal Schumacher of the Giants.

Meanwhile the Dodgers were cooling off the Cardinals before almost 23,000 pop-eyed fanatics over in Brooklyn.

There were wild scenes over there when Bill McGee, fifth Cardinal pitcher, walked in the tying run in the ninth and then let Peeewe Reese come through with a single that gave the Dodgers a 4-3 decision. On the other side of the bridge the fans are now more convinced than ever that "our bums" as they lovingly call their ball players, will win the pennant.

Bees Trim Pirates
The Cubs vacated the cellar in favor of its natural tenants, the Phils, when Bill Lee gave only five hits and walloped two homers himself for an easy 11-2 verdict.

And Max West's hit with the bases loaded in the ninth gave the Braves a 7-6 victory over the Pirates.

The American league race also was tightened up when the Yankees, behind young Maris Russo, trimmed the Indians, 7-5. Ted Williams' 11th-inning homer—his second of the game—enabled the Red Sox to trim their white holed brethren, 4-3, and Sid Hudson held the Tigers to six hits to score a 4-2 victory over the Tigers.

And the Browns traveled 14 heats to get a 6-5 nod over the Athletics.

Baseball Star, Too! Soose Promises To Give Overlin Return Battle

Mike Byelene

He doesn't look very familiar without his helmet and pads, but Mike Byelene, Purdue university gridiron star, has proved that he excels in baseball also. Mike took up the diamond sport for the first time in his college career this year, but he turned out to be one of the sparkplugs of the Boiler-maker nine, batting at a .300 clip, playing his center field position flawlessly and running the bases daringly.

Soose If He Should Win Friday Night Will Give Champion Return Bout

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 8.—Billy Soose today posted a $5,000 forfeit and signed a contract, binding him to meet Ken Overlin in a return battle, on or before August 11, in the event Soose believes the middleweight champ of his crown in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Although there was no formal announcement of the terms of the agreement, it was understood that Promoter Mike Jacobs included a clause reserving the right to substitute George Abrams, stablemate of Overlin and two-time conqueror of Soose, in Ken's place. The selection is left to Jacobs.

Both champion and challengers wound up their training yesterday. Overlin worked 10 rounds at his camp in Summit, N. J., while Soose tapered off with four heats in New York. Both weighed in at 160½ pounds. Soose remains an 8 to 5 favorite to cop the title.

Matches In Sylvan Heights League Will Be Replayed Friday

The games will be played off on Friday evening. President Geno Veri announced today. Teams which are unable to play on Friday evening have been requested to make their own arrangements, provided the matches are played before next league night, Wednesday, May 14.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports notes clipped off the cuff:
About a decade ago, thousands of local fans raucously cheered as a nimble-footed grid star whizzed, twisted, swiveled, straight armed and side stepped into paydirt. The lad gave numerous repeat performances throughout his high school days. Then came graduation. Like all sports personalities who fail to crash the collegiate ranks for obvious reasons, the young man took his place in the line of forgotten heroes.

One day, the young man left New Castle. A few close friends knew the athlete's plan. And so, the years pass. On Friday evening, May 23, in The Cathedral, the former "Hurricane" football star—Toke Penati—returns to the home town. Instead of a finished grid player, Penati now is a dramatic tenor. He wants to carry on in the musical world he loves so much. The affair is being held to help build a fund so that Penati can pursue his career.

The Herman deal: The Billy Herman deal, which saw the star second sacker junk a Cub flannel for a Brooklyn suit, has the baseball world speculating. The principal reason for the trade is to break up a clique and to rid the Cubs of a man who had managerial ambitions. In Chicago, Herman's dreams of piloting the Wrigley entry never could materialize.

Sources right in the background blatantly report that this is only the first move to destroy the clique. "Dizzy" Dean and two other veteran players are listed in the private

PENNOCK AT HEAD

GREENSBORO — Herb Pennock, one of the greatest pitchers of all times, is head of the Greensboro club of the Piedmont League. Heinie Manush, an outfielder, is manager. Pennock also directs the Boston Red Sox farm system.

YANKS OPTION HOLMES

NEW YORK—Tommy Holmes, a promising outfielder, has been sent back to Newark of the International League by the New York Yankees.

Weakness to hit left-handed pitching must be a chronic disease in the New York Yankee family.

It's an established fact that the Manhattan bombers exact y don't love postscript pegging. In the American Association, the Kansas City Blues seem to fo'd up when they see a southpaw on the hill. Consequently, K. C. has been seeing a lot of left-handed pitching and losing more than in past seasons.

The baseball world is rooting for "Lefty" Grove. The sting-bean Red Sox pitcher wants to win 300 games before he hangs up his mitt. A few days back, Grove notched his 294th triumph. Six more to go and one of the greatest twirlers in the history of the game will join Grover Cleveland Alexander, Walter Johnson, Christy Mathewson, Eddie Plank and Cy Young.

Ken Overlin, the night club gay blade, has grabbed some of that 8 to 5 short end that Billy Soose whips him Friday night. Ken reportedly has wagered $500 that he'll emerge on top. Northwestern football coaches are worried. The big star, Bill DeCorrevont, is having trouble with his pitching arm. The ace back hurt his shoulder in Northwestern's final grid game and "he can hardly throw at all now," officials state.

Pirates Trade Lloyd Waner To Boston Braves

Pittsburgh Gets Nick Strincevich Husky Hurler In Exchange For Waner

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 8.—Pittsburgh baseball fans learned today that Manager Frankie Frisch had disposed of the "other half" of the famous Waner combination that had patrolled the outfield for the Pirates for many years.

Frisch traded little Lloyd Waner to the Boston Braves for Pitcher Nick Strincevich, a husky six-footer who won four and lost eight last year. Lloyd had been with the Pirates since 1927.

Year in and year out, Lloyd and his brother Paul, stayed with the Pirates, making many a thrilling play and coming through with innumerable scratch hits to save the day for the Buccos. Early this year Frisch released Paul, who wound up with the Dodgers.

That severed the act. His latest move, in sending Lloyd to Boston, closed another chapter on local baseball history.

GRIFFITH SAYS GORDON IS GREAT

WASHINGTON—Clark Griffith, Washington Senators' owner, has always held that Ozzie Bluege rates as one of baseball's greatest utility players.

Griff now likes Joe Gordon, of the New York Yankees, who has been converted into a first sacker. "He is more dangerous at the plate than Bluege," the old fox says.

DETROIT—Hal White, rookie right-hander, has been optioned under a 24-hour recall by the Detroit Tigers. White has been sent to the Tigers' farm club, Buffalo.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Will the Pittsburgh district possess another middleweight champion of the world following mid-night, Friday night? Many fans in this vicinity believe so and the boy they believe will defeat Ken Overlin, present title-holder is Billy Soose, an ex-amateur of Farrell, Should Dame Fortune smile upon Magyar Billy he will be the fifth from this district to have grasped fame, and we hope, a fortune.

Some days ago there were many who believed that Porter's Cap and others would out-run Whirlaway. Not being keenly versed in running races we opened against the mob and laid some cigarettes that Whirlaway would win. And in boxing today there are some who believe that, despite his play-boyish tactics Overlin's legs and gymnastic brain will carry him to a win over Soose.

We haven't seen Overlin but have Soose. His legs are all right and so far we haven't found anyone who would characterize him as a dumb-wit. The only point we dislike about Billy is the slenderness of his midriff, it always having been our opinion that a shadow of a midriff couldn't stand much heavy whaling. However, we like his chances against Overlin because, smart in the ring, as he may be Ken's legs are apt to cramp Friday night and we may see his downfall.

Other champions have been Frank Klaus. He lost to George Chip who in turn was knocked out by Al McCoy. The third Pittsburgh district's next champion was Harry Greb who lost the title to Tiger Flowers and the last was Teddy Yarosz. Excepting for Greb who died some years ago, the ex-champions yet reside in the Pittsburgh district. No doubt all of them will be "pulling" for the Farrell boy to reach the champion's throne, Friday night.

Brent will not be in the Lawrence County Baseball league this season. This was stated today by League Secretary James Martin. Brent took out a franchise but when it came to getting players, Brent faced a difficult proposition. Instead of entering the league with a weak team the coal miners decided to keep their balls and bats in the moth bag which is regretful.

There was a time and that is not so many years back that we cannot recall it. Brent was one of the most prominent baseball towns on the Lawrence County baseball map. They cared little for expenses when it came to securing a good battery. It certainly is regretted that the small mining village will not be represented.

With the defection of Brent the cheering news comes that Hillsville will be in the circuit. When the loop was reorganized for the 1941 season Hillsville entered. A few days later it was said Hillsville would be compelled to drop out because Hillsville players had signed elsewhere. However, the hometown patriotism prevailed and Hillsville will have a team and players.

Not so long ago Patsy Brannigan, former local fighter, while strolling in Pittsburgh, espied an old friend from New Castle who promptly stopped his car and gave Pat a "lift". Getting out Patsy remarked: "Some day I'll give you a 'lift'!" The friend asked: "What kind of a car have you?" Brannigan replied: "I drive an elevator in the City-County building (Pittsburgh)."

Once sparring mates, now rivals and out to win. This is the status of Les and Russ. Les and Russ, if you would know. They are mid-

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Things that grow in the ground really pick up their heads yesterday when that good refreshing rain came. . . this morning old man Sol the sun was beaming for all he was worth. . . giving strength to the flowers and all that which has life. It's great to be alive in a country where you can stop a few moments and enjoy the wonders of nature. . . we hope above all else, that peace will soon settle over the entire world. . . that the people of this world will settle down and live the way people were intended to live.

When the National Anthem is played at local theatres, on the street by a band, or some other public place the public should stand at attention. . . too many times lately people have been neglecting this duty. . . we owe it to those who have given of their blood so that we may be free and enjoy the pleasures of Freedom, Liberty and Justice for all. You think it's a joke? Then my friend you had better pick up your troubles and get going. . . when it comes to a point where you can't say what you please, do what you please, write what you please and live where you please. . . then it will be too late. Think clearly friends. . . let's not be bamboozled.

Are you planning a defense garden? It would be a wise move. . . the truck garden stuff will be in great demand with all the boys that are now in camp and those who will be going the next few months. Just a little spot out in the back where you can grow a few beans, tomatoes, lettuce and the like. . . if you are fortunate enough to have room for a larger garden, then raise some vegetables that you can put up for the winter months to come. . . Use you head when planting your garden and you will be happier in time to come.

In case any one has a Collie, Eskimo Spitz or a Cocker Spaniel to give away, this column has names of folks who will give them wonderful homes. If you have one of these types of dogs. . . write in and tell your story.

Dr. Dajoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BASIS OF GOOD DISCIPLINE AMONG CHILDREN IS TOLD.

I have found that the most important thing in discipline is its explanation to a child. There isn't any use punishing a small boy or girl if he or she doesn't understand what the punishment means. If a child gets the idea that a penalty is imposed just to hurt him, then the whole motive behind discipline is obscured.

I have often said before that discipline in a home should be an attempt to show a child that a properly run home is purely a democratic unit, a co-operative endeavor with each member of the unit having the power to add or retract from the happiness of every other unit. An eminent child psychiatrist told me that if we can successfully learn to share our experiences, our pleasures and our disappointments with our children, we will be doing far more for them than if we attempt to raise them by a complicated system of rewards and punishments for wrongdoing, and I agree.

The ideal parents should keep before them in disciplining children is to be consistent as well as just. Inconsistency in the disciplining of children will do more harm than almost anything else. It is natural that it should, for what you are trying to do in discipline is build a judgment some act of his as all right one day and then you punish him for it the next, he will naturally be confused and resentful.

The best foundations for family life are the affection and devotion, and helpfulness and disciplining a child is merely showing him now he can best fit into this plan. If he is bad, he must be shown how his acts have tended to upset his home. A child will do almost anything to win and keep his family's affection.

We hear a lot today about never whipping a child. I don't think that in itself is so terribly important. There lives not far from me now, a family that I consider unusually happy. There are four children and they are a particularly stirring lot. I know those children have often been spanked and cuffed. Yet those children have an unusual affection for their parents. Somehow or other those parents, even when they were administering a whipping, succeeded in showing the children how much they loved them and how greatly they were concerned over what they had done. With them, a whipping was never a way of getting even with the child, it was a corrective measure.

On the other hand, I have known more than one home where whipping was taboo, and yet the home wasn't very happy, merely because the father and mother left the children cold and resentful with the punishments they did administer. If parents will develop and encourage a feeling of mutual trust and mutual understanding with their children, the problem of discipline will be easy.

We found a way

"I WAS an average man...rocking along. The plus I needed to push ahead was lacking. One day a friend remarked: 'How do you feel?' I replied, 'All right...I know, why?'"

This man found a way to go ahead. He reasoned, I am not as alert...keen or aggressive as I might be. That's why I am just rocking along.

He found his answer in the time-tried and tested S.S. Tonic. In the absence of a focal or organic disorder—S.S. Tonic will restore deficient iron in the blood...bring back color...step up your energy and help make "you feel like yourself again." Tone up your system...nail down your job...be in line for advancement. It is worth a good trial.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it causes "lugging" backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, sitting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with stinging and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your doctor for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

AROUND CITY HALL

This is the nuisance season; that is, dogs uproot gardens and flower beds and as a result the dog-catcher is roaming all sections looking for stray dogs.

Police are watching homes which are occupied because of persons having started on vacations. Police should be notified the homes are occupied when the vacationists return.

Louis Di Paolo today was given a permit by the city bureau of building to construct a one-story concrete block for garage purposes at an estimated cost of $250.00.

A person who pays a heavy tax here has inquired as to when the city will repair Neshannock avenue, which is full of holes. Some time ago it was stated the contractor who provided the material intended to do the repairs... Fire Chief James Thomas' car has been repaired a vivid red... It costs the city "a pretty penny" to send the dog-catcher to various sections in a police car to scout for dogs. Were he not so dispatched, there would not be nearly so many strays taken into custody... Squad room at police headquarters has been "washed down"... Anyone who desires to engage in the business of oiling streets must place a bond and secure a license from the city. The cost of oiling roads leading to cemeteries this year has been given as $476... It is no longer possible for the general public to use City Hall lavatories, keys having been secured for locks, and they are kept in different offices... S. L. Lockley, city controller, has completed the public library audit... Walter S. Hart, manager of Sylvan Heights golf course, will leave the employ of the city one week from today, and prior to that time council must name a successor.

Landon Deplores War-Like Speeches

Fears Roosevelt Will Give
"Final Fatal Words" In Speech Next Week

(International News Service)
TOPEKA, Kan., May 8.—Deploping the "war-like" speeches of Sen. Claude Pepper and Secretary of War Stimson, Alf M. Landon indicated Wednesday he fears President Roosevelt will give "the final fatal word" when he speaks next week.

When asked to comment on the two speeches, Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential nominee, said: "Mr. Roosevelt is proving right those who said that if he were re-elected he would be in war by summer."

"The indictment of Hitler by Secretary Stimson was true. But there was nothing new in the remedy he offered—war for the United States now. The secretary's reasons why we should go to war were all debated before the national conventions last June. The platforms of all parties pledged the American people against involvement in foreign war.

"The candidates for president," the former Kansas governor said, "were even more emphatic and specific in their promises to keep us out of war."

"Hardly was the election over when Mr. Roosevelt started to process our minds to lead us to believe that it is necessary for us to enter the European war.

"Speaking on the matter of Mr. Roosevelt and convoys," Landon said, "according to his own words, 'convoys mean war.' He approved the secretary's speech advocating convoys. It therefore follows that, according to his own words, he is taking the step that means war."
